

Scott Gorlin
Graduate Student
Department of Brain and Cognitive Science
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

September 16, 2010

To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter in support of the NeuroDebian team, whose efforts at producing high-quality free, open-source software have been invaluable to my graduate research. I have been using the NeuroDebian repositories and associated software for several years on a multitude of projects, and I strongly recommend that they receive funding for their work.

Respectfully,

Scott Gorlin